Parlsian sage is a most efficient hair invigorator, but to immediately stop any further loss of hair and quickly start a new growth it must be rubbed into the scalp so the starved hair roots can really absorb it and get the vital stimulation so badly needed. Parisian sage is not expensive. It's a scientific preparation that supplies all hair needs—a clean, non-sticky, antiseptic liquid that is sold by drug and toilet counters everywhere with guarantee to give you perfect satisfaction or money refunded.

Good looking hair is half the battle in any man's or woman's personal appearance. Neglect means dull, thin, lifeless hair and finally baldness, while a little attention now insures thick and lustrous hair for years to come. No matter what your hair troubles try a Parisian sage massage to-night—you will not be disappointed.—Adv.

Hair is by far the most conspicuous thing about us, and is probably the most easily damaged by bad or careless treatment. If we are very careful in hair washing, we will have virtually no hair troubles. An especially fine shampoo for this weather, one that brings out all the natural beauty of the hair; that dissolves and entirely removes all dandruff, excess oil and dirt; can easily be used at trifling expense by simply dissolving a teaspoonful of Canthrox (which you can get at any druggist's) in a cup of hot water. This makes a full cup of shampoo liquid—enough so it is easy to apply it to all the hair instead of just the top of the head. This chemically top of the head. This chemically dissolves all impurities and creates a soothing, cooling lather, Rinsing leaves the scalp spotlessly clean, soft and pliant, while the hair takes on the glossy richness of natural color, also a fluffiness which makes it seem much heavier than it is After Canthers, them than it is. After Canthrox shampoo, arranging the hair is a pleas-ure.—Adv.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

WILLIAMSBURG, VA., October 19.—

Things are moving apace at the old College of William and Mary. The formal opening and faculty reception, which had been postponed on account of the epidemic of Spanish influenza, were held Friday night, October 11. The opening exercises consisted of the academic procession from the residence of President Tyter to the college chapel, a series of appropriate addresses, and the faculty reception to the students in the library.

President Tyler spoke on epochs in the history of the College of William and Mary, a subject peculiarly fitting at this time when the college is entering upon one of its most significant periods. Not only the organizing of the students' army training corps, but especially the admission of women for

The work of the college is now well under way. The members of the S. A. T. C. are getting a taste of military life in earnest. Some failed to return to quarters according to orders after the reception Friday night, and as a result they have been doing guard duty on all parts of the campus.

The number of girls who have entered college this year is not large—only twenty odd in all—but those who are enrolled are a choice group. Opposition to admission of women is rapidly being forced into silence by the appearance, character and conduct of the splendid girls who have come to make history for the College of William and Mary and for coeducation throughout the South and Southeastern part of the country. It is a high privilege and an enviable responsibility to be one of these twenty girls. They know it and are setting themselves to make good.
